

PLAYGROUND SPARES INFORMATION SHEET

The usual place to go for playground equipment is the Association of Play Industries (www.api-play.org) which is the industry body. Through them you can contact a wide variety of playground equipment and surfacing manufacturers and suppliers. As an independent consultant I won't recommend any particular manufacturer but do suggest people go to the API.

The following are some companies who provide spare parts for playground equipment. These may be worth looking at for your spare parts. Playground equipment manufacturers tend to buy in such things as chains and other parts from specialist manufacturers rather than make them themselves.

Please note this is NOT a recommendation from Children's Play Advisory Service about any of the companies.
